1. [REDACTED] the Aspern (P 49/X 49) airfield was occupied by one twin-engine semi-high-wing monoplane, eight single engine biplanes, and 82 twin-engine, low-wing monoplanes with double rudder assembly, as previously observed. The 82 planes were parked in three rows of 12 each, one row of 10, three rows of 6 and 18 planes without any pattern. It is possible that other aircraft were behind the latter 18. There was no flying. Most of the planes were partially covered with tarpaulins. *
